The recipe dates from the year this building was completed and opened by Queen Victoria.

Prince of Denmark 7.5% A previous winner of Champion Beer of Wandsworth. The word complex is often used in beer descriptions. But in this case it is truly justified. Prince of Denmark is a strong, dark beer of great complexity and depth. It is based on traditional recipes from the 18th Century but has also been described as an 'Imperial Stout Nouveau'. Brown, amber and black malts are mixed with pale ale malts to give this beer its strong aroma and colouring. One of the truly Great Beers of the World.

Big Chief 5.5% Big hoppy golden beer, packed full of Kiwi hops with hints of honey and nectar and plenty of tropical citrus and floral notes. This was amongst the first of the big Kiwi hopped beers back in 2010. For me, this is still the definitive big NZ citrus hop beer. All others try to emulate this beer. But this is the Chief.

Sarah Hughes Brewery Sedgley, Dudley

Dark Ruby Mild 6.0% A former winner of Best in Festival. Wonderfully eccentric, extremely drinkable 6% mild . Uniquely flavoured due to use of a Victorian open topped copper. As usual we sent a van all the way to Dudley to collect this. When asked what your favourite record, film, or beer is, it is usually quite hard to decide. But in my case this is the best beer in the World. Now and always.

Betty Stog's 4.0% Copper-coloured bitter brewed since 1997 using Cornish water; whole-flower Celeia, Northdown and Aurora hops; malted barley and wheat plus a unique Skinner's yeast.

Malty aroma, a floral, even cedar taste, and a sharp tang of bitter grapefruit, this is an ale that has a strength of character that goes far beyond its meagre 4% ABV and to me explains why there is always more flavour in a malty beer like this than in any of the so-called new wave one dimensional super hopped beers.

Slaters Brewery, Stafford, Staffordshire

Nelson Sauvignon 4.3% Golden with a creamy head. Dry-hoppy with just a hint of fruit.

site (the Old Ram Inn/Brewery tap) has a rich history, dating back to the reign of Henry VIII. During this period Inns used to produce beer for their customers as well as external trade. The Ram Inn was held by Elisabeth Ridon as far back as 1533. Whilst Humfrey Langridge, a known brewer, occupied the Ram Inn during the 16th century. The aptly named 1533, pays homage to the proud brewing history of this historical site.

Slightly filtered to give it a clear, pale appearance, without compromising on any of the fruity flavours you'd expect from a hop filled session IPA.

Sweet aroma of biscuit. Citrus, Pine & Spicy flavours.

BeLo - Belgian Blonde 4.5% (Cask specifically for this festival) BeLo, named after Head Brewer, Alexis' faithful hound, this (lower alcohol) Belgian Blonde has been brewed using influences from the region he hails from on the border of France and Belgium. Brewed using traditional Belgian ales yeast and English hops with a hint of malted wheat, producing a crisp, refreshing taste. Pale straw colour with a white head and aroma of sweet malts.

Theakston's Masham, North Yorkshire

Triple FFF, Four Marks, Hampshire

Hallelujah 4.2% A lager coloured beer with the full flavour of a real ale. As usual with Triple FFF all their beers are named after popular music songs. New Zealand hops punch through the malt to give a pine fresh hoppiness

Watneys, London

Watney's Pale Ale 4.2% Well there's a line I never thought I would ever write. Yes, Watney's Pale Ale. There, I've written it again! Watneys Pale Ale Available in cask for the first time since 1969. It is golden in colour, with a citrus aroma, light sweetness and a hoppy dry finish. And make no mistake this tastes absolutely nothing like the beer of my adolescence.

Watney's was once the UK's biggest selling beer. It's a brand with an amazing past which a group of young entrepreneurs have resurrected (in name only). In its heyday as well as owning thousands of pubs, and the brands that became what is now Diageo (the spirits giant), Watney's had some iconic marketing. The advertising featured Michael Caine, Peter Cook and his E.L. Wistey character, and The Scaffold among others.

The Watney Cup was the first sponsored football tournament in the UK, with Derby County winning the final in 1970 against Manchester United.

Watney's Red Barrel was on the bar in Fawlty Towers, featured in famous Monty Python sketches, and even 'On The Buses'.

Beer historian and sales manager for Harveys in Lewes, Simon Dixon collects Watney's memorabilia and has converted an entire room in his Sussex home into a mock 1970's Watney's bar with original Red Barrel fonts and even a pineapple shaped ice bucket plus Babycham glasses and period ashtrays.

Wimbledon Brewery, Wimbledon, London SW.19

Wolf, Besthorpe, Norfolk

Silver Fox 4.6% Straw coloured beer brewed with Mosaic hops which impart a grapefruit flavour and citrus finish to the beer.

Wychwood, Witney, Oxfordshire

Hobgoblin Gold 4.2% Everyone is familiar with the best selling dark beer of the same name. But this golden version is new to me. A combination of four hop varieties infused with malted barley and a touch of wheat give this easy drinking golden beer tropical aromas of citrus and passion fruit. A biscuit-like malt base gives way to heaps of fresh lemon and lime zest.
